Foreword from the Sponsoring Bodies

We are very pleased to introduce Safeguarding Children: Policy and Standards for the Catholic Church in Ireland 2016.

This publication underlines a ‘one-Church’ approach across all constituent Church bodies. The revised set of standards is designed to ensure up-to-date ‘best practice’ in all aspects of child safeguarding in the creation and maintenance of safe environments. Two new standards have been introduced to address the care of complainants and also the care and management of respondents accused of child abuse.

We must remember that children are an integral part of the Church and must be cherished, cared for and safeguarded. We are reminded of this point in Matthew 25:40, ‘whatsoever you do to the least of my brothers you do unto me’. We acknowledge that the harm any of our members have caused to children, and our failures to adequately address these wrongdoings, have had an enormous impact on our children and on our Church.

Since 1996, the Catholic Church in Ireland has taken many proactive steps to recognise and deal with child abuse. The first document, Child Sexual Abuse: Framework for a Church Response, was issued in 1996, followed by Our Children, Our Church in 2005. The Bishops’ Conference, the Conference of Religious in Ireland and the Irish Missionary Union then established the National Board for Safeguarding Children in the Catholic Church in Ireland (the National Board) in 2006. The National Board developed the first Safeguarding Children, Standards and Guidance for the Catholic Church in Ireland (2008), which was adopted by the Church as policy in this area.

In light of developments in legislation, policy and guidance, alongside learning from reviews of safeguarding practice carried out by the National Board, and the continued development of good practice across the Church in Ireland, it was appropriate that the National Board, alongside Church personnel and external advisors, began a process of revising standards, which culminated in the publication of this document. We are grateful to all those who participated in the extensive consultation exercise. They have given immense assistance to the National Board in rewriting our child safeguarding policy and standards.

In striving to avoid complacency and to learn and improve on our practice, abiding by this policy and working to achieve these standards will protect children, Church personnel and the integrity of the Church and its mission. In this way we will each play our part in meeting the challenge set by Pope Francis when he said:

God has no difficulty in being understood by children and children have no trouble in understanding God. It isn’t by chance that in the Gospels, Jesus speaks beautiful and strong words about the ‘little ones’. This term indicates all persons who depend on the help of others, particularly children. Children, therefore, are a treasure for humanity and also for the Church because they constantly remind us of the necessary condition for entering into the Kingdom of God: that we must not consider ourselves self-sufficient, but in need of help, of love, and of forgiveness. (General Audience, 18 March 2015)

Let us celebrate our ministry with children and ensure, in living out these standards, that children are safeguarded in the Catholic Church in Ireland.

Introduction by the Chairman of the National Board for Safeguarding Children in the Catholic Church in Ireland

Families need to know that the Church is making every effort to protect their children. No sacrifice on the part of adults is too great or costly to enable our children to grow and to safely preserve their growth.

This is the reason that the National Board has engaged in such a lengthy and comprehensive consultation over an eighteen-month period across the whole Church in Ireland, including governmental agencies, to ensure that the updating and revision of the Church safeguarding standards is consistent with both learned experience and best practice. A similar reason lies behind the establishment of the Pontifical Commission for the Protection of Minors, established in 2014 by Pope Francis for the universal Church.

Raising awareness and understanding regarding the seriousness of implementing correct safeguarding environments and procedures at all levels of the Church is part of ensuring accountability. Central to the mission of making the Church a safe home for children and adolescents is the need to address the matter of accountability. In this regard, note should be taken that in June 2015 Pope Francis mandated the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith (CDF) to judge bishops with regard to crimes of the abuse of their office. To undertake this, a new judicial section regarding the protection of minors has been instigated in the CDF, which is expressly dedicated to claims of abuse of episcopal office.

The policy element of our document sets out, by way of five commitments, the undertaking of the Catholic Church in Ireland to keep children safe through:

1. Mandatory reporting to statutory authorities of suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations that a child is being or has been abused;
2. Caring for the welfare of all children involved in Church activities, and of the adults who work with them;
3. Responding appropriately to child protection suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations, and to the people who bring these to the attention of Church personnel;
4. Caring pastorally for those who have suffered abuse, and other affected persons;
5. Caring pastorally for those implicated in the perpetration of abuse, and other affected persons.

A revised seventh standard supports a more structured process to quality assure compliance with the other six standards.

The policy and standards provide the framework for practice, through a one-Church approach to child safeguarding. The purpose is to ensure that the same principles, procedures and practices for safeguarding children and for responding to allegations or suspicions of child abuse operate at every level and in every place throughout the Catholic Church in Ireland. A further purpose of the one-Church approach is to create a secure and supportive atmosphere in which those who have suffered abuse can disclose this to a trusted person in the expectation of receiving a sensitive, caring and compassionate response, and by being supported in their continued healing. It is the responsibility of each Church authority to ensure that all Church personnel apply the standards in their own sphere of activity. These standards represent the expected level of performance all parts of the Church should reach. By dedicating ourselves to learn, to improve on our practice and to meet these new standards, we will remain vigilant in protecting the children of today and tomorrow, and protect Church personnel and the integrity of the Church and its mission.

The challenge of change has to be met, and, to the best of its ability, the National Board has incorporated all relevant legislation, regulation and statutory guidance developed in both jurisdictions on the island of Ireland over the last seven years. The nature of this type of document is that it can never be completely definitive, and so the National Board will continue to provide guidance to Church bodies on future changes in the statutory context or otherwise as these arise.

Structure and Use of This Document

This document is structured under two sections:

1. Child safeguarding policy

This policy outlines the commitment to child safeguarding across all Church bodies in Ireland, and it applies to all Church personnel.

Each Church authority is required to sign, date and adopt this one Church policy.

Each Church authority should prominently display the policy statement and make the policy available to all Church personnel who are required to adhere to it.

All Church personnel working within a Church body are required to understand, commit to and sign their agreement to adhere to the policy throughout their ministry with children.

2. Seven safeguarding standards

Church bodies are required to demonstrate that their practice complies with the seven child safeguarding standards, as appropriate to their ministries.

Each standard contains:

- A statement outlining the rationale for the standard;
- Indicators that ensure the standard is being met;
- Ways of providing evidence to support the implementation of this standard;
- Links to other standards.

Child Safeguarding Policy Statement of the Constituent Members of the Catholic Church in Ireland

As a constituent member of the Catholic Church in Ireland, we recognise and uphold the dignity and rights of all children, are committed to ensuring their safety and well-being, and will work in partnership with parents/guardians to do this. We recognise each child as a gift from God, and we value and encourage the participation of children in all activities that enhance their spiritual, physical, emotional, intellectual and social development.

All Church personnel (including clergy, religious, staff and volunteers) have a responsibility to safeguard children through promoting their welfare, health and development in a safe and caring environment that supports their best interests and prevents abuse.

Foundations

In developing and implementing the Child Safeguarding Policy, this Church body is guided by the following foundations:

1. Gospel

Children have a key place in the heart of Jesus who said: 'Whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child shall not enter it' (Luke 18:17). This places a sacred obligation on the Church to ensure that children are welcomed, cherished and protected in a manner consistent with their central place in the life of the Church.

2. Children's rights, international and national law

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) outlines the forty-two fundamental rights to be implemented in national law by signatories to the convention (this includes the Holy See, Ireland and the United Kingdom). Full realisation of these rights will ensure that children will be 'brought up in a spirit of peace, dignity, tolerance, freedom, equality and solidarity',¹ whilst respecting the cultural identity of each child.

A number of the child protection rights contained in the UNCRC are already present in key pieces of national law, canon law, and child and family policy and guidance, including:

- Better Outcomes Better Futures, DCYA, 2014

In the laws of both jurisdictions, where there is a conflict between the best interests of the child and the interests of other parties, the best interests of the child are considered to have paramouncy.

3. Learning from the past

In his Ad Limina address to the Irish Bishops on 28 October 2006, Pope Benedict XVI stressed the need to (i) establish the truth of what happened in the past; (ii) to take whatever steps are necessary to prevent it from occurring again; (iii) to ensure that the principles of justice are fully respected; and (iv) above all, to bring healing to the victims and to all those affected by these egregious crimes.²

The statutory³ reports into historical child abuse that have involved the Catholic Church in Ireland, as well as the reports of the reviews conducted by the National Board of individual Church bodies, highlight past errors and recommend how child safeguarding can be significantly improved.

As a Church we commit to this journey of justice, truth, healing and abuse prevention.

Commitments

Together with the foundations outlined above, this Church body, as part of the Catholic Church, commits to:

Mandatory reporting

Each of us has a duty to notify the statutory authorities of suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations that a child is being or has been abused:

- physically
- emotionally
- sexually
- through neglect

Suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations may relate to possible abuse by a member of Church personnel, but they can also relate to incidents in the child's family, or elsewhere in the community.

Caring for the welfare of all children and the adults who work with them

Measures to create and maintain environments that are safe for children, that prevent abuse, and that create nurturing, caring conditions within the Church for children and the adults who work with them, will continue to be strengthened and reviewed. This will be done through training, support, communications and quality assurance.

SAFEGUARDING CHILDREN: POLICY AND STANDARDS FOR THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IN IRELAND 2016

Responding appropriately to child protection suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations

Anyone who brings any suspicion, concern, knowledge or allegation of current or past abuse of a child to the notice of the Church will be responded to sensitively, respectfully, actively and in a timely manner, in line with statutory child protection procedures and Church requirements.

All suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations that reach the threshold for reporting to the statutory authorities (apart from those received in the Sacrament of Reconciliation)⁴ will be reported via the designated liaison person to the appropriate statutory authorities. This will be done irrespective of the status of the person (lay, cleric or religious) who is suspected of having been abusive to a child. If the allegation relates to a lay member of Church personnel, in addition to notifying the statutory authorities, the allegation must be reported to the Church authority. If the allegation relates to a cleric or religious, in addition to notifying the statutory authorities, the allegation must also be reported to the Church authority and the National Board for Safeguarding Children in the Catholic Church in Ireland.

All Church personnel will cooperate with the statutory authorities in all cases.

In responding to complaints of child sexual abuse relating to clergy and all those in forms of consecrated life, Church authorities will act in accordance with the requirements of civil law and canon law, and so will respect the rights and uphold the safeguards afforded in these, both to the complainant and respondent.

Caring pastorally for complainants and other affected persons

Those who have suffered child abuse by Church personnel will receive a compassionate and just response, and will be offered appropriate pastoral care, counselling and support as they seek to rebuild their lives.

An appropriate pastoral response to the family, parish, congregation or order and to the wider community will be provided, with due regard to the right of privacy of those directly involved, and to the administration of justice.

Caring pastorally for respondents and other affected persons

This Church body in its response to suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations of child sexual abuse will respect the rights under civil law and canon law of an accused cleric or religious or other Church personnel. A legal presumption of innocence will be maintained during the statutory and Church inquiry processes. As the processes develop, additional assessment, therapy and support services may be offered to the respondent.

The Church authority will take responsibility for ensuring that any cleric or religious who is considered to constitute a danger to children is managed according to a risk management plan.

All requisite steps will be taken to restore the good name and reputation of anyone who has been wrongly accused of abusing a child.

Respondents belong to families and diocesan or religious communities. The Church authority will be mindful of the need to provide support to members of families and communities affected by the respondent's changed situation.

⁴ The sacramental seal is inviolable; therefore it is absolutely forbidden for a confessor to betray in any way a penitent in words or in any manner and for any reason, Code of Canon Law, c.983.1, in Catholic Church (1983), The Code of Canon Law: Latin-English Edition (Washington, DC: Canon Law Society of America).

Scope of the Policy

This policy applies to all Church bodies and is addressed to all Church personnel who are required to comply with it. Full understanding of and adherence to this policy should lead to a deepening in the understanding of, and respect for, the rights of children and young people to participate as people of faith in the life of the Church.

The care and protection of children involved in Church activities is the responsibility of the whole Church, and is a requirement that applies regardless of the nature of the Church activities in which children are involved. Everyone who participates in the life of the Church has a role to play in creating an environment in which children can develop and be safe.

Putting the Policy into Action

This Church body will implement this policy by ensuring that all our ministry and activities comply with applicable indicators of the seven safeguarding standards.

1. Creating and Maintaining Safe Environments.
2. Procedures for Responding to Child Protection Suspicions, Concerns, Knowledge or Allegations.
3. Care and Support for the Complainant.
4. Care and Management of the Respondent.
5. Training and Support for Keeping Children Safe.
6. Communicating the Church's Safeguarding Message.
7. Quality Assuring Compliance with the Standards.

Commitment by the Church Authority

On behalf of this Church body, as part of the Catholic Church in Ireland, I commit to safeguarding children by agreeing to follow this Child Safeguarding Policy.

I will abide by and uphold the seven standards and the applicable indicators in our entire ministry and contacts with children.

Child Safeguarding Standards

What is a standard?

A standard is the level of practice required to ensure good child safeguarding. Each standard is self-contained and is supported by indicators. It is the standard that provides the framework for action. Audits of compliance will be undertaken against the seven standards and the relevant indicators that apply to the Church body.

UNDERSTANDING AND IMPLEMENTING THE SEVEN SAFEGUARDING STANDARDS

What are indicators?

Indicators should be understood as targets to be achieved; they demonstrate how the objectives of the standard are reached. For ease of use, the indicators have been colour coded and should be used alongside the implementation flow chart on page 15. The colour-coded indicators should be understood as cumulative in that:

- If the Church body has ministry with children, all of the indicators apply (blue, orange and green) as shown in Table 1.
- If the Church body has no ministry with children but are managing allegations or cases, only the orange and green indicators contained in Table 2 apply.
- If the Church body has no ministry with children and are not managing any allegations or cases, only the green indicators contained in Table 3 apply.

Following the table that sets out the indicators under each standard, there are two further sections, which are explained here:

What are ways of providing evidence to support the implementation of this standard?

This section lists forms of documentary evidence of practice that can be used to demonstrate that each indicator is being fully met. Guidance has been developed for each standard and is available as a separate document. Following the guidance developed by the National Board is optional. However, a Church authority needs to ensure that appropriate written guidance is in place and is being followed in their Church body.

What are the links to other standards?

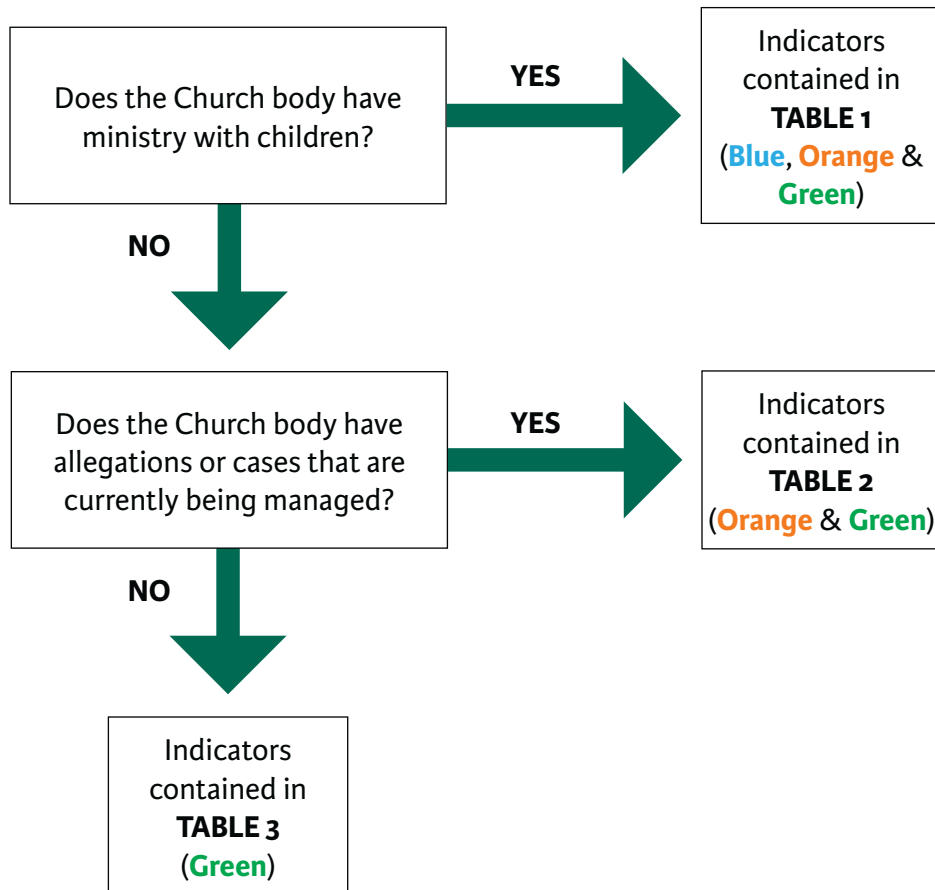

Safeguarding children requires that all of the standards are fully realised across the whole Church. The seven standards constitute a whole, so each individual standard should be understood alongside the other relevant standards listed in this section.

UNDERSTANDING AND IMPLEMENTING THE SEVEN SAFEGUARDING STANDARDS

1. Read and sign the Child Safeguarding Policy.
2. Use the flow chart below to identify what indicators apply to their Church body.

3. Read and implement the relevant indicators that apply to their Church body (see tables on the following pages).

TERMINOLOGY USED IN THIS DOCUMENT

Canon law: In the Catholic Church, canon law is the system of laws and legal principles made and enforced by the Church's hierarchical authorities to regulate its internal organisation and government, and to order and direct the activities of Catholics toward the mission of the Church.

Child: Means everyone below the age of eighteen years.

Children with specific needs: This term is used to cover the specific or unique, out-of-the-ordinary concerns created by the child's medical, physical, mental or developmental condition or disability. Additional services are usually needed to help a person in one or more of the following areas (among others): thinking, communication, movement, getting along with others, and taking care of oneself.

Church authority: This term does not appear in canon law. It can refer to the leader of the Church body, usually the bishop or provincial, or the senior administrative authority of a lay organisation or ecclesial movement. This term includes prior, prioress, abbot, abbess, congregational leaders, province leader, unit leader, regional, superior, archbishop, cardinal and diocesan administrator (while in office).

Church body: Canon law contains many distinctions between the types of Church organisations and bodies that have developed over the life of the Catholic Church. It would be impractical to include all of these when referring to an element of the Church that has a child safeguarding responsibility. In this document the term 'Church bodies' is used as shorthand to include all of those constituent members of the Catholic Church in Ireland who hold a Memorandum of Understanding with the National Board for Safeguarding Children in the Catholic Church in Ireland. A full list is provided on the website of the National Board.

Church personnel: The term 'Church personnel' is used to define those that work (voluntarily or paid) for the Church body. This includes clergy, religious, staff and volunteers.

Cleric: One who is ordained in sacred ministry in the Church. Clerics are divided into deacons, priests and bishops.

Complainant: This is a term used to describe a person who has made an allegation of abuse.

Constituent member: The twenty-six dioceses of the Roman Catholic Church on the island of Ireland, members of the Conference of Religious in Ireland and members of the Irish Missionary Union; and such other congregations, organisations, associations, ecclesial movements or prelatures on the island of Ireland with the prior agreement of the members of the National Board; to the extent any such foregoing body has agreed to adhere to the Memorandum of Understanding.

Delict: A crime in canon law; an external violation of a law or precept gravely imputable by reason of malice or negligence.

Designated liaison person: The person appointed by the Church authority to liaise with the statutory authorities regarding child safeguarding suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations.

Effective practice: Effective practices are: accessible; identify and respect the rights of service users; client-centred; delivered by trained and committed staff; well managed; and shown through regular evaluation to have positive outcomes for the people being served.

In Ireland: For the purposes of this document, the term 'in Ireland' includes Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland. If the term 'Northern Ireland' or 'Republic of Ireland' is used, it is in relation to something that is only applicable to that specific jurisdiction.

TERMINOLOGY USED IN THIS DOCUMENT

Interim management plan: A plan put in place with the respondent during the process of investigation of an allegation of abuse by the Church and by the statutory authorities.

Ministry with Children:

This includes:

- any work or service undertaken by Church personnel with children, which is under the authority of their Church body;
- any work with children undertaken by Church personnel (lay, vowed and ordained) within Church property, which is under the authority of their Church body;
- all priests in active ministry under the authority of their Church body are to be considered as having ministry with children.

Monitoring: A mechanism put in place to systematically oversee and review how a respondent has complied with a permanent management plan.

One-Church approach: Although the Catholic Church in Ireland comprises a large number of Church bodies, in relation to safeguarding, this term means an approach that is consistent and transparent across the whole Church in Ireland.

Preliminary investigation: This is a canonical term, which refers to the initial investigation by which a Church authority determines whether an alleged delict, which has reached the threshold of a semblance of truth, is not manifestly false or frivolous and remains a case to answer.

PSNI: Police Service of Northern Ireland.

Respondent: This is the term used for the person about whom child protection suspicions, concerns, knowledge or allegations have been made.

Statutory Authorities: These include TUSLA and the Gardaí in the Republic of Ireland, and Social Services and the Police Service of Northern Ireland in Northern Ireland.

Threshold:

ROI – Children First Act 2015 Part 3 (14), (1) defines the threshold for reporting as ‘... where a mandated person knows, believes or has reasonable grounds to suspect, on the basis of information that he or she has received, acquired or becomes aware of in the course of his or her employment or profession as such a mandated person, that a child (a) has been harmed, (b) is being harmed, or (c) is at risk of being harmed, he or she shall, as soon as practicable, report that knowledge, belief or suspicion, as the case may be, to the Agency’ (Child and Family Agency).

NI – Cooperating to Safeguard Children 2003, 2.3 and Children NI Order 2(2) and 50 (3), defines the threshold for reporting as ‘reasonable cause to suspect that the child is suffering, or is likely to suffer significant harm’.

Tusla: The Child and Family Agency who are the statutory authority in the Republic of Ireland, responsible for improving well-being and outcomes for children.
